Developers resurrect plans to build homes on rugby club site

PROPOSALS to build on Harlow Rugby Club's ground at Ram Gorse have resurfaced, 10 years after a housing scheme for the land was rejected by a Government planning inspector.

A public consultation was held yesterday (Wednesday) at which plans for two proposed developments - residential housing at Elizabeth Way and a new rugby club pavilion, pitches and other facilities at Latton Farm in Second Avenue - were put on display.

A similar plan to build 147 homes on the land after the rugby club had moved to Latton Farm were submitted to Harlow Council back in 2001 but were rejected. A planning inquiry was held in 2003 after which the appeal was dismissed.

This week's public exhibition in the Civic Centre gave residents the chance to view the latest plans and quiz representatives of the developers - Kier Homes - and the rugby club.

The proposal is for the construction of 130 homes on the Ram Gorse site, with a third designated as affordable housing. Entry to the development would be from Elizabeth Way.

However, concerns have already been voiced about access to the site and the impact on traffic levels.

A Kier Homes spokesman said: "The crucial difference between these proposals and the previous ones is the rugby club land was not allocated for housing. This was changed in 2006 and the land is now allocated for housing.

"We are proposing for 130 homes to be built and are very keen to hear people's views on the plans for the new residential area and the rugby club. We will consider all the feedback we receive."

He added: "We have done a huge amount of pre-consultation work with Harlow town planners. We have really concentrated hard on creating the right plans for Harlow."

"We have a scheme that works for Ram Gorse and Latton Farm. We have a scheme that protects the green wedge and in terms of housing

Housing plan for rugby club

fits in well with the rest of the town.
"I would urge Harlow residents to come and have a look at the proposed plans and submit their views about them."

Harlow Rugby Club chairman Alan Brooking said: "The plans pretty much meet all our requirements. It would have a huge impact on the club as we cannot do a lot at the moment with what we have."

"The clubhouse was originally built for a men's team. We now have men, women and young adults - 800 members if you include parents at the club - and with the proposed plans we can have a multi-functional base that will be able to cater for everyone."

Mr Brooking added: "We are a community amateur club and that is the key. We want to support rugby in schools, which is something we do now, right up to the England under 21s team. It's about rugby development and the new clubhouse would allow us to do that."

"Of course we will be extremely sad if and when we have to leave [Ram Gorse] but it is not enough to meet our needs."

Kier Homes will consider all responses received by residents, groups and organisations before submitting two separate planning applications for the Ram Gorse and Latton Farm sites.

Councillor Phil Waite, Harlow Council's cabinet portfolio holder for environment, said: "At this stage this is a pre-application consultation by the developers to allow residents and organisations to put forward their views to the club and the developers."

"While we welcome any proposals which will improve local sporting facilities and provide much-needed housing, the proposals will have to be determined and considered through the council's planning procedures."

Wedding ring upset for grieving widow

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE widow of Harlow gym owner Elvis Meade, who died last month, has been left devastated after her late husband's wedding ring was lost in a supermarket self-service checkout machine.

Michelle Meade, 38, accidentally inserted both her husband's ring and her own into the machine at Sainsbury's in Fifth Avenue.

After discovering her mistake Mrs Meade, whose ring was immediately dispensed back to her, reported what she had done to a member of staff. She said she was told the machine would not be reopened until an engineer was called.

"I explained to everyone that Elvis was really sick in hospital and the ring had been cut off his finger so it would not be a whole ring," she said. "I was really upset but went home because there was nothing else that could be done."

When she returned to the store the following day the checkout was back in use.

Mrs Meade, who lives in Nazeing, said: "I was really angry and really upset. I was so emotional and the situation did become heated.

EMOTIONAL: Michelle Meade. Left, the two wedding rings

"The deputy store manager came and spoke to me but when I asked if he could put the till out of service in case it dispensed the ring to a customer he said he wasn't prepared to do it. It was heartless."

"It was really upsetting, I just felt like the store did not care."

A Sainsbury's spokeswoman said: "We appreciate Mrs Meade's disstress at losing something of such importance to her.

"Unfortunately, despite the best efforts of our colleagues who checked the till's internal and external drawers three times and a specialist engineer who stripped the till completely, nothing was found."

"We extend our sympathy to Mrs Meade and very much hope she succeeds in finding the ring."

Animal charity offers free neutering to tackle cats crisis

THE Stort Valley branch of animal welfare charity the RSPCA, which covers Harlow, is launching a free spaying scheme in a bid to reduce the huge number of stray and unwanted pregnant cats.

The charity says last year was one of the worst on record and described the situation as at "crisis point", with a big increase in the number of cats abandoned in the area and demand for foster places rocketing.

The RSPCA recommends that cats should be neutered at four months of age before they start puberty to prevent unplanned pregnancies.

After spaying, cats will be less likely to wander, stray or call and the chance of contracting some infectious cat diseases will be reduced.

To qualify for this scheme, owners must live within the branch's catchment area from Saffron Walden to Broxbourne including Harlow, Bishop's Stortford and the surrounding villages.

Northern bypass will not solve town's problems of congestion

SIR, I recently attended the AGM of the Church Langley Residents' Association during which there was a presentation about the proposed new junction 7A for the M11. Those present were unanimously in favour of it.

There is congestion in Harlow already because the existing junction 7 is at capacity. When there are hold-ups on the M11 and the M25, traffic backs up along the A414 preventing residents from leaving Church Langley.

Such congestion occurs on a too frequent basis and causes considerable delay and disruption to their lives.

Gilden Way is already a busy road but along with a new motorway junction, Essex County Council propose 14 other road improvements in Harlow to help the traffic flow and move the traffic faster.

From my conversations, not everyone in Old Harlow is opposed to junction 7A as they can see the benefits for themselves and the town.

A northern bypass is not the answer as it will not draw traffic out of Harlow. People will not drive that far north to join the motorway when they can do it from within the town, even if they have to wait.

Yes, Harlow Council did approve a motion favouring the northern route in February last year but as John Maynard Keynes once said: 'When the facts change, I change my mind. What do you do, sir?'

Cllr Simon Carter (Conservative)
Mark Hall Moors, Harlow

Using Gilden Way to access M11 junction 7a would be disastrous

SIR, Robert Halfon appears to be reversing away from his proposed new M11 junction 7A at all costs as he realises the strength of local opposition which includes his own Conservative councillors.

Using Gilden Way as the main access route to a new M11 junction would be disastrous not only for Old Harlow, Churchgate Street and Newhall, but for much of the eastern side of the town.

Statistics presented by Essex County Council at Harlow Civic Society's AGM suggested that such an option would divert 7,000 vehicles per day from the existing junction 7 to the proposed junction 7A. Gilden Way and First Avenue simply could not cope with such an increase in traffic, even with the improvements put forward.

The lack of a northern bypass would make the quickest route for lorries from Pinnacles to the M11 through the centre of the town via Fourth Avenue, First Avenue, and Gilden Way. It also risks drawing extra traffic to and from Sawbridgeworth and Thorley.

Labour candidates standing in the council elections in May have pledged to fight against this ridiculous and dangerous scheme and hope that Mr Halfon will not give support to a scheme that uses Gilden Way as the main link to junction 7A.

Thomas Newens,
Park Hill, Harlow

There's even less justification for building on rugby club land

SIR, Here we go again. Back in March 2001 Harlow Rugby Club wanted to sell its Ram

"I took this on Saturday, January 25 in the graveyard of the church at Churchgate Street, Harlow," writes reader Ross Knight. "I was taking a morning stroll and noticed the rain drops on the snowdrop flowers and thought it would be a great photo." If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

Gorse field for housing development. Now in January 2014 it is wanting to do the same again.

I do hope the council and people of Harlow will fight this plan and reject it as happened in October 2003. There are plenty of brownfield sites around Harlow to build housing so why build on our fast diminishing green wedges?

As I wrote back in April 2001, the land was given to the club for a peppercorn price so why should it profit from its sale?

The point was also made by myself and many others that the site is unsuitable for housing on such a busy road. Traffic is much heavier than it was 13 years ago so there is even less justification for building there.

John Wilson
The Hornbeams, Harlow

Prioritise potholes instead of pointless repairs to footpath

SIR, You couldn't make it up, could you? Our own cash-strapped highways authority - Essex County Council - has taken it upon themselves to repair the footpath to nowhere!

I refer to the footpath at the junction of Post Office Road, East Gate and Velizy Avenue which leads on to the Velizy Avenue dual carriageway. Not a place for pedestrians.

In the meantime potholes and broken pavements abound. The lake which is now an almost permanent part of the Post Office Road cycle track is being eyed by visiting waterfowl; and other parts of the cycle network have been in need of attention for years. Yet nothing gets done.

I have been reporting potholes in Woodcroft for months with no result. So come on Essex County Council; take notice of those who know what needs doing - the people of Harlow - and spend your budget wisely.

John Curry
Old Orchard, Harlow

Install CCTV to deter vandals from damaging people's cars

SIR, I have lived in Pear Tree Mead since the 1960s. I have brought up my three children here and overall it has always been a relatively quiet and peaceful area - until recently that is.

In the past few months there have been a spate of cars in Pear Tree Mead being keyed at night. I know of at least 10 vehicles, mine and my son's included. One was only purchased the day before it was damaged.

When your car is keyed you are caught in a situation where you can just simply live with it, pay for the damaged area to be resprayed or make an insurance claim. Those last two options will cost you a lot of money and then you are in a situation where it could quite easily be keyed again - as mine was.

Most people do nothing about it, meaning the culprits of these mindless and malicious crimes simply get away with it and people are forced to drive around in scratched cars. What for? Why do we have to simply accept this situation?

Something urgently needs to be done to stop these vandals ruining people's cars which are expensive enough to own and maintain without the added cost of petty vandalism.

The only solution I can think of to stop this from happening is for a CCTV camera to be fitted overlooking the area as a constant deterrent and to protect people's hard-earned property.

If we choose to do nothing about this it will simply keep happening. More mindlessly damaged cars, more costly repair bills for hardworking people.

I believe these crimes can be deterred and stopped with a security camera. The question is will the police and Harlow Council listen and act accordingly?

Many people will struggle to pay latest rise in council tax

SIR, Last year Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson claimed that he knew what Harlow residents wanted when the council put up council tax and rents.

I live and work in Harlow and have done so all my life. I and many others are on low wages so if The Playhouse, Pets' Corner and the paddling pools have to close so be it.

Many of us are not getting wage rises and the council is only adding to our struggle, not just to get by let alone get on.

So no, Cllr Wilkinson, once again you have got it wrong.

I. Bean
The Hides, Harlow

MP's visit to homeless haven show's he is a true gentleman

SIR, Having found myself homeless and hungry and in need of a smile and a cuppa, I was at the haven in Abercrombie Way for those of us down on our luck and in need of a meal and a kind word.

To my surprise, in walked Harlow MP Robert Halfon. He came along without an entourage or any members of the press. He spoke to us all, listened to our stories and asked questions. He was not canvassing for votes or looking for a photo opportunity.

I feel that people, whatever their political eanings, should know that rather than hob-nobbing in some fancy restaurant or sitting at home, this man took time out to visit this great service and spend time with those of us that society in general either looks down on or chooses to ignore.

Thank you, Robert, for being a true gentleman and, dare I say it, a real MP who cares about all his constituents whatever their situation or position.

Thugs sentenced for 'violent' town centre fight

TWO thugs who were involved in a running battle in Harlow town centre in the middle of the afternoon have been given custodial sentences.

Callum Goodger, 18, of Longbanks, Harlow, pleaded guilty to affray and robbery at a previous hearing. He was given a two-year detention and training order.

Tony Nguyen, 21, of Occasio House, Harlow, admitted having a metal pole as an offensive weapon and threatening behaviour. He was jailed for 18 months.

Outlining details of the incident, prosecutor

Sasha Bailey told Chelmsford Crown Court: "There was a large melee between two groups of people in Harlow and police viewed CCTV in the area.

"One witness said she saw a black male run past her near The Playhouse theatre being followed by a second male who was Goodger. Others were chasing the black male before he was punched and kicked to the floor.

"A second witness near Occasio House saw a black male punched and kicked but he threw a stool at his attackers."

Miss Bailey added: "It was in the afternoon in broad daylight when members of the public were going about their lives."

Passing sentence, judge Anthony Goldstaub said: "In the centre of Harlow town centre in the early to mid-afternoon when people are entitled to be walking about a civilised town, violence erupted around them."

In relation to the robbery charge, Goodger pleaded guilty to robbery in relation to a mobile phone but in a special hearing before sentencing the judge also found he had also stolen a wrench, keys and cigarettes.

After-school club is saved from closure

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN after-school club has been saved from closure after Burnt Mill Academy stepped in to offer them a home free of charge.

Chillout Kids Club, which was set up 12 years ago by Tracey Watkins, provides childcare services until 6pm each weekday.

When the club's previous arrangement came to an end in October, the search began to find a new venue for the group which caters for 4-14 year-olds.

An appeal by Harlow MP Robert Halfon for schools in the town to consider offering the club an alternative venue drew a positive response the First Avenue academy.

The club has now relaunched and is able to use the academy's extensive facilities like the common room, IT suite, main hall, playground and kitchen.

It is also hoping to hold holiday club's offering swimming session in the school pool.

Ms Watkins said: "We are the longest standing after-school club in Harlow and we were all - staff, children and parents - devastated when we thought we would have to close.

"Burnt Mill Academy headteacher

Helena Mills has been kind enough to hear our plea and give us a new home to continue providing a service to the community.

"Burnt Mill has been really kind and sympathetic. They are fantastic, really community-minded. By waiving the fees, we are going to be able to do so much. We are eternally grateful."

Jackie Keegan, finance manager at Burnt Mill, said: "We have offered Chillout Kids Club the use of our facilities free of charge to allow them to pass these savings down to the parents of the children they take care of.

"This provides the children with an ideal opportunity to get a feel for a large secondary school. Lots of our students stay after school for study and enrichment clubs, so it is great these young

Council handed a £700k bonus from Government

HARLOW Council is set to receive almost three-quarters of a million pounds from the Government under the New Homes Bonus payments scheme.

Housing minister Kris Hopkins MP confirmed on Monday the authority will be given £704,000 as part of a £900m payout to more than 350 councils in England.

Essex County Council will receive £4,738,181 under the bonus scheme which was started in 2011.

The bonus matches the additional council tax raised for new and empty homes brought back into use for six years - with extra cash being given for new affordable homes.

Councils are free to use the funding as they see fit to benefit the local community - from providing new facilities to protecting frontline services or freezing council tax.

Mr Hopkins said: "The New Homes Bonus lets local people share in the benefits of development.

"Getting Britain building in this way is critical to our long-term economic plan, not only building the homes communities need but creating thousands of new jobs and apprenticeships across the country.

"We will continue to pay the bonus in the future to ensure that places that have built houses are properly rewarded for doing so."

Recent figures released by the National House Building Council show a 28 per cent increase in housing supply in 2013 compared to the previous year and house-building is at its highest level since 2007.

Communities minister Stephen Williams said: "I'm delighted to see the numbers of empty homes going down by 38,000 over the past year alone.

"These New Homes Bonus payments are in recognition of councilled efforts to make this happen."

POUNDLAND

THE skeletal frame of a new £40m distribution centre being built by budget shopping chain Poundland now stands on a 20-acre site at Pinnacles.

When building work is finished the centre will become the retailer's main UK distribution hub and is likely to create hundreds of new jobs.

The depot, which is being constructed on land previously occupied by office supplies company Pitney Bowes and pharmaceuticals giant GlaxoSmithKline, is expected to open later this year.

It will employ some 650 people at the peak of its business operation by 2016.

The firm has already pledged to work with local partners and Harlow Council to introduce local jobseekers to employment opportunities prior to its opening.

Celebrations to mark 10 years of Science Alive

SCIENCE Alive, the interactive learning resource based at Harlow Leisurezone, is planning a week of events to celebrate its 10th anniversary.

Chief executive Jon O'Connor said: "We get no guaranteed funding and our education charity is kept running on pure energy and ideas. What keeps us going is great feedback from visitors, birthday children celebrating their special day and great school groups."

To celebrate its anniversary Science Alive will be launching a dedicated centre for Raspberry Pi programmers. It has also designed a programme of workshops to encourage a partnership between local industry and schools.

On Sunday, February 16 it will be holding a birthday party for friends, volunteers and supporters, and during half-term week it will host a series of birthday workshops including Kitchen Cake Chaos, Birthday Buggies and Birthday Card Bonanza.

Admission is free with visitors asked to make donations as a birthday present. For more details visit www.science-alive.co.uk.

EIGHT maps detailing which streetlights Essex County Council plans to switch off in Harlow for five hours each night have been published this week.

County Hall has already rolled-out part-night lighting schemes across the districts of Maldon, Uttlesford, Chelmsford, Braintree, Colchester, Castle Point, Epping Forest and Rochford as well as running a two-year trial of the scheme for the A127.

Harlow is among a number of remaining areas of the county that are due to be moved onto part-night lighting, with street lights being switched off from midnight to 5am.

Some of the original implementation dates for the scheme have been pushed back due to a number of factors including call-in processes.

The Harlow maps show the proposed implementation in Great Parndon, Hare Street & Little Parndon, Katherines & Sumners, Latton, Mark Hall, Old Harlow, Potter Street & Church Langley and Town Centre & Industrial Estates.

Consultation responses are currently being considered. The date that the scheme will be rolled-out in Harlow is yet to be confirmed.

Councillor Rodney Bass, cabinet member for highways and transportation, said: "We are giving due consideration to the consultation responses received from local residents and councillors in addition to the emergency services, regarding the areas which they believe meet the exemption criteria. I appreciate their time and response with this.

"I am working with fellow councillors throughout the call-in process for the areas affected and I will listen carefully to their views prior to making a decision regarding the roll-out. Revised dates for areas that are affected by the call-in process will be published online when agreed."

County councillor Mike Danvers (Labour), who represents the Harlow North division, said he was hoping to call-in the decision on Monday in a bid to force the council to review the proposals.

"I have had much representations in letters and emails about this and realise there is forceful opposition to this policy of putting Harlow in the dark after midnight," he said.

"Many crucial junctions in Harlow will not be illuminated and this will be part of my objection next Monday."

However, Inspector Greg Wood of Harlow police said: "The experience in other parts of Essex has been that a reduction in street lighting has not led to any noticeable increase in crime."

"We will continue to work closely with both Essex County Council and Harlow Council to ensure that Harlow remains one of the safest places to live in the county."

A part-night lighting scheme has been running in Maldon and Uttlesford since 2007 and, according to the county council, has had no negative impact on crime statistics or road accidents.

PAH trust starts search for new chief executive

THE chief executive of the trust that runs Princess Alexandra Hospital is leaving to take up a similar role in Devon.

Melanie Walker, who joined PAH in 2011 will leave at the end of next month.

"There are very few jobs I would leave PAH for but this is one," she said. "I know I will be leaving PAH in a much stronger position than when I arrived, particularly with the strength in depth of leadership we now have."

Ms Walker praised the "incredible" team effort which she said was responsible for the overall improvement of the trust during her time in charge.

"I am proud of the PAH staff," she added. "It is their commitment to improving services for patients that is the trust's real strength."

Trust chairman Douglas Smallwood said: "We are tremendously sorry to see Melanie go. She has been an inspiration to us all and a great person to work alongside."

"There will be plenty of opportunity to say proper farewells but I totally share her belief that the trust is now in a much stronger place. We all wish Melanie and her family all the best with the move."

The trust has already started its search for a replacement by using an agency to find suitable candidates.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Cake bake group helps kids in need of a birthday treat

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MOTHER-of-two will be juggling her role as a traffic officer with baking personalised birthday cakes for youngsters who may not otherwise receive one.

Emily Cross, of Felmongers, Harlow, has set up a local branch of Free Cakes for Kids, a community baking project helping families who find it difficult to provide a cake for their child.

The 26-year-old is now looking for volunteer bakers who want to help as well as businesses interested in sponsoring a cake for a child.

"At the moment I am networking with charities where we hope to get referrals for children who would not get a cake on their birthday," said Emily.

"We get the name and age of the child and what they like in terms of flavours and interests so that we can pick one of our bakers to make a personalised birthday cake for them."

Emily, who has two children - Sophie, 4, and Alex, 1 - added: "Me and my two friends are the only bakers at the moment but I have already had a lot of interest and a really positive response, so the team seems to be building quickly."

"There are groups like this all over the UK and I just felt it was a really nice thing to be a part of and bring to Harlow."

"I think cakes can do a lot. A personal birthday cake is the only cake that is going to be in existence for that person and that's pretty special."

"It is about doing something nice and

something personal for somebody's birthday."

Businesses, groups and individuals can sponsor a cake, a photo of which will then be published on the group's Twitter and Facebook pages to thank them for supporting the charity's work.

"It's not something that is done at the other Free Cakes for Kids groups but hopefully it should help us bake more cakes for more children who may not get one."

To get involved with Free Cakes for Kids Harlow, call Emily on 07596486338 or email freecakesforkidsharlow@yahoo.co.uk.

Return to town of pop-up job shop

A POP-up shop is returning to Harlow to help young people find work.

The shop, which attracted over 100 young people when it was held last year, aims to connect young adults looking for work with prospective employers.

The organisers are still waiting to confirm a location for the shop which is due in town on Friday, March 7.

The first shop saw around 15 businesses take part, including the Manor of Groves Hotel, River Island, and Essex Academy.

Rianna Raymond-Williams, of The Foyer Federation which is behind the pop-up shops, said: "It was a huge success, providing hands-on tasters for young people to get involved in."

Over the next 18 months there will be three pop-up shops in Harlow. Young people will act as ambassadors to help those taking part register onto the generator programme. Users can then list their skills online and graduate to the 'talent pool' where employers advertise work opportunities.

Salvation Army's tea 'n' togs sales

ORGANISERS of the weekly tea 'n' togs sale at the Salvation Army's Tendring Road centre in Harlow are hoping to attract more visitors.

The sales of clothing, footwear, bric-a-brac, books, DVDs and toys are held every Tuesday morning from 8.45-11am to raise money for the organisation.

A spokeswoman said: "We are struggling to get people through the door at the moment."

"It is a really good service, selling lots of things for very good prices. A lot of hard work goes into setting everything up and sorting through items."

Tea, coffee and biscuits are also available.

Singing to help with dementia

SINGING sessions for people with dementia are returning to Harlow.

The Singing for the Brain programme has been developed by the Alzheimer's Society as an enjoyable activity which can also provide a way for people with dementia, along with their carers, to express themselves and socialise with others in a fun and supportive group.

It promotes communication through singing which can also help articulation, concentration, focus and motivation.

The sessions are run by specially trained facilitators who deliver various vocal, rhythmic and gentle exercise and dance along with songs from different eras.

The first Singing for the Brain session will take place at Moat House in The Stow next Thursday (February 13) from 10.30am - noon. Sessions will run for eight weeks. To find out more, call (01279) 427522 or visit www.alzheimers.org.uk/localinformation.

Marathon mum aims for £2,000 target

A RETAIL advisor and mother of two is taking on the London Marathon and has plenty of events organised to make sure she reaches her £2,000 target for the NSPCC.

Donna Carr, 32, of Sadlers Mead will be taking on the 26.2 mile race for the charity and will be hosting several events to boost her total.

"I have two kids and I felt it was a worthy cause to support," said Donna, pictured right.

"It will be my first marathon but I have always wanted to do it."

"My resolution was to aim for something and raising money for NSPCC is my aim. I'm hoping to raise as much money as possible."

All money raised at the events will go directly to the NSPCC.

A charity disco will be held at Harlow Stadium, in Roydon Road, on Saturday, March 29 from 7pm.

The quiz night will be held on Thursday, February 20 from 7.30pm at Colt Hatch Social Club and tickets are £4.

The buggy walk will start from Toffee Toddler Group's base at Old Harlow Baptist Church on Friday, March 7 at 9.30am.

Tickets can be bought by calling Donna on 07738 165112. To sponsor her visit www.justgiving.com/Donna-Carr.

Library to shut for a makeover

THE library in Old Harlow will be closed for four weeks for improvement work.

The building in High Street will be shut from Saturday, February 15 until Friday March 21 to allow the installation of new self-service machines and work to be undertaken on the entrance.

Essex county councillor John Jowers, cabinet member for libraries, communities and planning, said: "We are confident that the new machines will make borrowing items from Essex libraries quicker and more convenient."

During the 33-day closure users are advised to use the nearest library at The Stow.

Driver quizzed over collisions

AN investigation is under way after a car collided with six vehicles in Harberts Road, Harlow on Friday.

Police were called to the road at 12.20pm after reports that a Ford Focus had crashed into a number of parked cars.

The driver was taken to hospital and was later questioned by officers.

Halfon wins PM's support over energy bills 'rip-off'

TV gardener unveils hospice memory tree

A MEMORY tree for people to pay tribute to their loved ones has been unveiled at St Clare Hospice by celebrity gardener Christine Walkden.

The olive tree has a hand-carved trunk and is surrounded by dozens of gold, silver and bronze leaves on to which inscriptions can be engraved.

Christine, who lives in Sawbridgeworth, said: "Trees are often associated with the circle of life so I can't think of a better tribute to the patients who have been cared for at the hospice."

Each leaf will help pay for the costs of caring for patients. Sponsorship starts at £85 for bronze, £205 for silver and £480 for gold.

The engraved leaves will be displayed for 12 months. Hospice volunteer Tony Shattock and his daughter Sarah were among the first to dedicate a leaf.

"My beautiful wife Janet died in 1999 but I still miss her every day," said Tony. "I help man the reception; the desk is just across from the memory tree and I was determined to have one of the very first leaves for Janet."

A MOTION by Harlow MP Robert Halfon accusing energy companies of "ripping off" consumers gained further support when it was debated in the House of Commons on Tuesday.

Nearly 200 MPs signed the motion calling for an inquiry by regulator Ofgem into charges to customers who do not pay their bills by direct debit.

Energy companies claim the charges reflect the higher costs of processing payments but Mr Halfon said they amounted to a tax on some of the poorest in society.

He took up the fight after reading a letter from Harlow councillor Guy Mitchinson in the Star which highlighted the extra costs.

During the debate in the House of Commons Mr Halfon said: "That 177 MPs signed my backbench motion - the most signed ever - shows it is an issue that unites the House."

"A Harlow resident was told she would be charged £63 extra a year for not paying by direct debit for energy bills. Seventeen energy companies I investigated charge their customers different amounts depending on how they pay - up to £390 more per annum."

Mr Halfon won all-party support for his motion. Labour MP Albert Owen said he supported a cap on charges levied by energy companies on those who don't pay by direct debit.

He said: "This motion is about Ofgem doing its job and standing up for the consumer."

Conservative MP Alok Sharma said Ofgem should define more carefully what "proportional" charges are, while Labour MP Kate Hoey said: "If someone has a bill, they should not be charged any extra for paying in cash."

After the debate Mr Halfon said: "I was delighted that the debate went so well."

"Ofgem has now written to me saying that they will look into these charges. These are positive moves and I will continue to fight against these excessive charges in Parliament."

"Next week I will be introducing a law trying to stop them."

Energy minister Greg Barker has confirmed that Ofgem will look into the charges that energy companies impose on customers.

Mr Halfon's campaign has already made an impact on the Prime Minister. Last week David Cameron ordered officials to investigate whether those paying by cash or cheque were subsidising those who pay by direct debit.

WIN Learn how to play the Arsenal way this half-term

THE half-term break is nearly here and this week we are giving away five places at the three-day Arsenal Soccer School which will be held at Passmores Academy in Harlow from February 17-19.

The Soccer School will give local youngsters aged 5-13 the chance to learn to play the Arsenal way, with courses based on the techniques used by Arsenal manager Arsène Wenger to nurture young talent at the Arsenal academy.

However, children attending the programmes don't have to be budding professionals to enjoy the course, Arsenal Soccer School courses welcome girls and boys of all abilities; regardless of who you might support, the emphasis is on having fun whilst learning to play football the Arsenal way.

Each day will run from 10am to 3pm with player's taking part in warm ups, reaction games, skills and technique training, fun games, matches and tournaments.

All players who attend the full course will also receive a personal report card, an Arsenal Soccer Schools gift and a medal. There will also be lots of other prizes including trophies for fair play, tournament winners and of course, the coveted Player of the Week trophy.

Arsenal Soccer Schools have been running in Essex for the past 12 months and head of region Ray Gulutu has been impressed with the enthusiasm that many children have been showing across this time.

"It's very encouraging that so many young players want to take such an active part in our soccer schools," he said. "The children have been enthusiastic and the talent on the last few courses has been excellent.

"In fact we have been looking very closely at these soccer schools and have been selecting some of the most talented at each course to attend trials for our local development centres."

In addition to their place on the course, every child attending an Arsenal Soccer School will be entered into exclusive competitions including a prize draw for the chance to watch Arsenal play a match at the Emirates Stadium!

For a chance to win a place, all you have to do is answer this simple question:

What is the name of the Arsenal manager?

You can email your answer to competitions@hertsessexnews.co.uk making sure you put 'Star Arsenal' in the subject line.

Alternatively, enter online at www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions.

FEBRUARY 14 is almost upon us once again and with it the feast of St Valentine.

Well known for his association with lovers and all things heart shaped, St Valentine was a Catholic bishop who was martyred for his faith.

Thanks to him, you can try to win over a potential partner or treat your other half to a special gift or event with a wealth of great ideas right here.

Whether you're hoping for a lavish present or a special night out, some of the advertisers featured here will be able to offer you a fantastic selection of Valentine's Day ideas to inspire you.

Whatever your romantic budget, it's the thought that counts...

Back in Rome in AD 270, Emperor Claudius had decided that married men made poor soldiers and had banned marriage from his empire.

Bishop Valentine would secretly marry young men that came to him. When Claudius found out, he first tried to convert Valentine to paganism, but Valentine reversed the strategy, trying instead to convert Claudius. When he failed, he was stoned and beheaded.

During the days that Valentine was imprisoned, he fell in love with the blind daughter of his jailer. His love for her, and his great faith, managed to miraculously heal her from her blindness before his death.

Before he was taken to his death, he signed a farewell message to her, "From your Valentine".

The phrase has been used on his day ever since and eventually a mid-February holiday in commemoration of St Valentine was used by Roman men to seek the affection of women.

It became a tradition for the men to give the ones they admired handwritten messages of affection, containing Valentine's name. The first Valentine card grew out of this practice.

The first true Valentine card was sent in 1415 by Charles, Duke of Orleans, to his wife. He was imprisoned in the Tower of London at the time.

Tots love their new garden

KIDDI CARU NURSERY Building work has finished at the Kiln Lane nursery and youngsters can now enjoy their new garden.

The outdoor space now features a unique, purpose built sensory lodge, a jungle and baby garden and a construction play area.

The £100,000 makeover, which was started in October, was created by Timotay Playscapes, an imaginative play garden specialist.

Nursery manager Jennie Gregory said: "Our garden now has a bicycle track, pulleys and buckets for weighing and measuring, interactive water channels, plant arches, vegetable patches, tactile walls and even a mud pit – all of which have already been put to very good use by the children."

"We have had very positive feedback from parents, children have been regaling them with exciting stories about the games they have been playing in their new garden."

Watch this space! Pupils take on rocket challenge

BURNT MILL ACADEMY

Students in Years 7 and 8 are taking part in an international rocket-making contest.

The pupils at the First Avenue school have been building their rockets with the help of Harlow-based Beard and Fitch in the hope of winning the UK Aerospace Youth Rocketry Challenge.

The top prize is to compete in an international fly-off against the American, French and Japanese winning teams at the Farnborough International Airshow and an all-expenses paid trip to Paris and Toulouse.

Burnt Mill's three teams of five pupils will trial launch their rockets on Thursday, March 6 at Stow Maries Aerodrome.

Science teacher Francis Collins said: "The students are really getting excited about this project. We are meeting every Monday after school and they are liaising over Skype from home to design their rockets."

Two heads are better than one at St Alban's!

ST ALBAN'S ACADEMY Two pupils were given the opportunity to take charge of the First Avenue school when they became headteachers for the day.

The Friends of St Alban's organised a raffle with the prize allowing two students - one from the infants and one from the juniors - to step into the shoes of head Anne McCann.

Year 1 pupil Leo Alder-Barber, pictured right, and Elom Kartey, who is in Year 3, were the lucky winners. On Monday they turned up in their smart clothes to take on the role.

Marc Gravenor of The Friends of St Alban's said: "We raised £280. The raffle tickets were sold by Year 6 children during their lunch and break times."

"The children's excitement was absolutely amazing. When the winners were announced they were really pleased. Leo especially was ecstatic."

"It was brilliant and it's something we will do again."

New head sets out his plan for positive growth

A NEW headteacher has been appointed for a Harlow primary school four months after it was given academy status.

Former deputy head Marios Solomonides, pictured below, has taken over at Freshwaters Academy in School Lane in an acting capacity.

The school became an academy on September 1 last year when it changed its name from Broadfields Primary School and Nursery.

This week Mr Solomonides told the Star: "It's all about everybody working together to be the best we can be. It's about creating a mindset in all of us which is about positive growth.

"When a child says they can't do something we are raising their aspirations and encouraging them to believe they will be able to achieve it sometime soon.

"I have told staff that if they believe they can do something better or more effectively to just do it. I don't believe a headteacher needs to approve every little detail in a school, I do not need to be a part of every decision.

"Where appropriate our children should be making as many of the decisions as possible. Everyone is a part of the process rather than being told what to do as we are stronger together.

"We all have our own strengths and this way our pupils will get to benefit from them. As a result, everyone is feeling more empowered."

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Freshwaters is working with Burnt Mill Academy's student senior leadership team to develop the school council with the aim of giving more responsibility to pupils.

"Children come to us at a low baseline," said Mr Solomonides. "Some make amazing progress but too many do not achieve the expected levels by the time they leave. That is unforgivable.

"We are now focusing far more on early intervention. It is no good stepping in when a pupil is in Year 6 to give extra help, particularly where numeracy and literacy are concerned. We are now putting intervention steps in place for our very youngest children. If you close those gaps when they are not too big they will disappear altogether."

The school will also be holding an anti-bullying event as well as a campaign to stop children running in the corridors and an initiative to teach children about the value of work and money by inviting them to apply for small jobs in the school.

"There are lots of examples of best practise in this school," said Mr Solomonides. "My plan is simply to bring them all together to raise attainment."

Making an offer to pay non-priority debts

MAKING pro-rata or token offers on non-priority debts is a good solution to some debt problems.

You should make offers on debts like bank loans, overdrafts, credit cards, personal loans and mail order but not on hire purchase or any debt that is secured (usually on property) as these are priority debts.

The non-payment of priority debts such as mortgage, rent, fuel bills and council tax can have serious consequences. You need to make separate arrangements to pay the arrears on priority debts and include these amounts as essential expenses in a financial statement.

Start by preparing a financial statement showing all your income and essential expenditure in monthly amounts. Essential expenses include housing costs, gas and electricity, council tax, water rates, insurances, transport costs such as bus or train fares or the cost of buying and running a car, clothing, telephone or mobile phone, food, cleaning materials, toiletries, children's pocket money and some that you can save for Christmas and birthday gifts.

Add them all up, then take expenditure away from income, leaving you with what is called "disposable income" which you

By Norman Halford
Money advice specialist
Harlow Advice Centre

can use for paying your debts. If there is no disposable income, you will need to seek specialist help.

Now list all your non-priority debts and add them up.

Divide up your disposable income in proportion to what is owed for each debt so that the biggest debt will get the largest offer and the smallest debt the least.

Use a calculator to divide the disposable income by the total debt and write down the answer. Then multiply each debt amount by the figure written down. This gives the amount you can offer for that debt. Do this for each debt.

To check, add up all the offers and the total should be the same as your disposable income figure.

● Contact a specialist debt advice agency such as Harlow Advice Centre if you need help to establish if this is the best solution for you.

Example of debt calculation

Total monthly income	£1,000
Total monthly expenditure	£950
Disposable income	£50

Non priority debts		Pro-rata monthly offer
Loan	£2,000	£29.00
Credit Card	£1,000	£14.00
Mail Order	£500	£7.00
Total Debt	£3,500	£50.00

Disposable income divided by total debt:
 $50/3500 = 0.0142857 \times 2,000 = £28.57$
 $0.0142857 \times 1,000 = £14.29$
 $0.0142857 \times 500 = £7.14$

Harlow Advice Centre is based on the first floor of Harlow Central Library in The High. Telephone (01279) 704002 or email admin@harlowac.org.uk. Opening hours are Monday noon-2pm, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 10am-2pm. Out of hours appointments are available if necessary.

A BILLION pairs of flip-flops are produced every year and many end up as rubbish on the world's beaches. But a Kenyan biologist turned businesswoman has found one way to recycle the popular summer footwear. Julie Church and her company Ocean Sole have created toys animals, beaded curtains, jewellery and animal sculptures - ranging from giraffes to dolphins to lions and elephants - from around 50 tonnes of dirty, discarded and damaged flip-flops in 2013. The company hopes to recycle 400,000 flip-flops a year to create awareness for recycling as flip-flops are one of the largest marine pollutants on the Indian Ocean beaches. The colourful masterpieces are designed to deliver an important message about marine conservation.

Lasting legacy of Sir Frederick Gibberd

THIS year marks the 30th anniversary of the death of Harlow masterplanner Sir Frederick Gibberd.

The design of the new town in the years after the Second World War is widely regarded as the greatest achievement of the architect, town planner and landscape designer who died on January 9, 1984.

Sir Frederick was one of Britain's most respected architect planners of the 20th century and his work has influenced generations of post-war designers.

During his career he was responsible for the design of scores of buildings including the terminal buildings at Heathrow Airport and the Central Mosque in Regents Park.

But it is for his work on Harlow that he is best known.

Sir Frederick, who was born in Coventry in January 1908, was appointed masterplanner for the New Town in 1946. He spent the rest of his life in the town he designed, purchasing a home on the outskirts at Marsh Lane in 1955.

He also designed the gardens of the house, which feature an impressive collection of sculptures and which are now open to the public.

The development of the new town incorporated the small market town of Harlow (now known as Old Harlow) as well as the villages of Great Parndon, Lutton, Tye Green, Potter Street, Churchgate Street, Little Parndon and Netteswell.

Sir Frederick invited many of the country's leading architects to design buildings in the town, including Philip Powell and William Crabtree.

Among his most notable works in the town are The Lawn, Britain's first modern-style tower block which was opened in 1951 and is now a Grade II listed building.

The town also has him to thank for its extensive collection of public works of art - including pieces by Henry Moore, Auguste Rodin and Barbara Hepworth - which has earned it official recognition as a "sculpture town".

In an interview for the BBC back in 1982, Sir Frederick spoke of his desire to create a "balanced town" allowing people from all backgrounds to live in an integrated community.

Cheers! Workmates celebrate at Christmas party

THIS photograph of workmates celebrating Christmas was brought in by reader F.W. Russell, of Feasants Croft, Harlow.

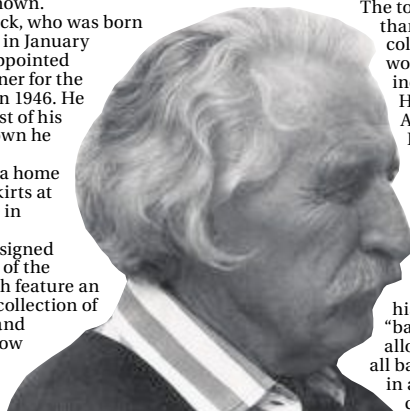

It was taken in the machine shop at Sunvic Controls at Templefields during the 1950s.

Mr Russell, 87, who worked for the firm as an engineer, wrote: "I can name four people in the photo - Bill Johnson, Bill Boyd, Fred Brooks and (?) Willingham."

"In those days cycle tracks were packed with cyclists going to work at the factories. There were hundreds, it was a wonderful sight."

Do you recognise any of the men in the photo? If so, call Nostalgia on (01279) 400 577 or email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Katya and Pasha to talk Strictly

TWO stars of the BBC's hugely popular Strictly Come Dancing show will be appearing at Harlow Playhouse in April.

Katya Virshilas and Pasha Kovalev, two of the more recent additions to TV's Strictly family of professional dancers, are embarking on a national tour which will bring them to Harlow on April 27.

They will be performing ballroom and Latin routines alongside guest dancers and pupils from a local dance school.

With more than nine million viewers each week for BBC's Strictly Come Dancing, demand for dance shows is at an all time high. In this brand new live theatre show, the audience will get the chance to watch exhibition dance routines featuring the rumba, waltz, foxtrot, tango, jive and many more performed by Katya and Pasha.

The show will feature four guest dancers, all beautifully costumed, demonstrating a series of stunning dance routines, accompanied by a full audio-visual backdrop and light show.

There will also be the chance for the audience to put their questions to Katya and Pasha and find out what really goes on behind the scenes of the hit BBC TV show.

This production will certainly be a must-see for Strictly fans.

Speaking to the Star this week, Katya said: "It's like Strictly on stage but it's a very personal experience as the audience get to ask us questions. It's quite funny and Pasha always get a marriage proposal."

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

She added: "Every week on Strictly we do something different, so Broadway and film and this show will include all of those."

Katya, who was born in Lithuania before moving to Israel and then Canada, has been dancing since she was old enough to walk. At the age of 16, Katya became the youngest ever British Columbian Latin Dance Champion and also won many competitions in Canada.

Katya choreographed moves in the movie Shall We Dance? (2003). She also trained Richard Gere and Jennifer Lopez on how to dance.

In 2000 she danced an iconic tango scene in the hit film Take The Lead with Antonio Banderas which became the signature image of the whole film. This tango is ranked one of the best ever in a movie.

When asked what she enjoyed most, film or Strictly, Katya said: "Strictly is very different, it's very cliquey and extremely competitive."

Katya has appeared in the last three series of Strictly Come Dancing on the BBC, being partnered with cricketer Phil Tufnell, rugby player Gavin Henson and most recently TV presenter Daniel Lobbe.

>> Tickets for An Evening with Pasha Kovalev & Katya Virshilas cost £26. For more details or to book, call the box office on (01279) 431945 or visit the website at www.playhouseharlow.com.

REVIEWS

THE DEVIL AT MIDNIGHT

Moot House Players
Moot House

WITH the prosecution of celebrities for historic acts of child abuse in the news, the subject matter of The Devil at Midnight couldn't have been more topical.

But the play, written by screenwriter Brian Clemens and presented by Moot House Players, challenged expectations and raised questions about the different forms abuse can take.

Bridget McAlpine gave an assured performance as therapist Liz Burns. The fault lines in Liz's marriage to bumbling yet ambitious Jack crack wide open when the suspicion of child abuse takes hold. Jack appears to be fond of his wife, but his sexist remarks and behaviour make him a man for whom the word 'inappropriate' might have been coined.

Michael Rees captured the ambiguity of his character and kept the audience guessing whether he was just misguided and lacking in self-awareness, or a dangerous paedophile.

Kelly Rowland delivered a performance of painful intensity as the vengeful client, Nicki White. Blazing with anger, she forced Jack to see that when she and her brother were snatched by social workers from an innocent father their lives were shattered.

Her brother Billy, wearing a hoodie and clutching a cleaver, was played by Matt Hunt with pale menace. Despite having only one line of dialogue, he conveyed both the young man's threatening aura of violence and his inner pain; impossible to dismiss him as just another feral youth when there is insight into the reasons for his stunted life.

Dan Powell did an excellent job of directing this fast-paced four-hander, allowing moments of humour to break through the darkness like the flashes of light from the lighthouse that Nicki remembered from her broken childhood.

The Devil at Midnight encourages us to look with compassion beyond outward appearances - whether they involve hoodies or business suits - and ask who the real monsters are.

JANE SARKODIE

WHAT IS IT ABOUT THAT NIGHT?

Catherine Ireton,
Harlow Playhouse

WHAT Is It About That Night? is a musical set in and around the backstage area of the Playhouse, and it is definitely different.

The performance gives theatre fans a chance to embrace all aspects of what they love and others, the chance to see it in a different kind of light.

Created and performed by Catherine Ireton, she was easily able to capture the attention of her small audience with her brilliant singing voice, and honest acting.

Both Catherine and producer Gavin Stride can be proud of how believable the performance was. The audience, who wait in the entrance before being led through the stage door, did not realise the performance had started when Catherine, who played stage hand Judith, uttered her first lines.

In a tight space, the view was occasionally restricted, but Catherine seemed aware that some of the audience had to crane their necks to see her and moved her performance accordingly.

The show did well in transporting audiences, helped greatly by the setting, to the silent dramas and ghosts of the theatre. Catherine was brilliant as the wide-eyed stage-hand who tried 'the whole acting thing' and is thrilled when we hear her small piece on stage through the tannoy.

The one-woman show was peppered with personal thoughts and musings as well as anecdotes and songs that were wonderfully written and beautifully performed.

THE GALLERY
Parndon Mill, Harlow
(01279) 426042

ART The Counterpoint exhibition by Stella Hunt shows different subject matters using various materials as well as textures. Each piece of work is about a journey. Stella Hunt states that she never wants to know what the finished painting will be like until she gets there - for her this is a challenge. The exhibition will be on display until Sunday, February 16. The gallery is open Tuesday to Friday between 10am and 5pm and 2pm to 4pm on Sundays.

GIBBERD GALLERY
Civic Centre, Harlow
(01279) 446404

ART Recent paintings by Graham Boyd will be on show in a new exhibition opening tomorrow (Friday) at The Gibberd Gallery in the Civic Centre. Boyd has always been primarily enthralled with light and the expressive properties of paint. The challenge that the painter takes on board when trying to evoke space on a flat surface through contrasts and the illusionistic nature of colour has kept him fully occupied for more than half a century. The gallery is open Monday to Friday between 9am and 4.45pm.

Romance in gardens

AVOID the clichéd and overpriced dinner this Valentine's Day, and treat your loved one to a much more inspiring garden-themed gift.

No, not a bunch of red roses – a day out at one of the country's beautiful romantic gardens.

From the soft, scented, quintessentially British 'cottage garden', to the wild and dramatic landscapes of our grandest old houses, gardeners (and non-gardeners) nationwide should all be completely lovestruck by the great outdoors. Here are a few to get you in the mood:

■ Lyme Park, Cheshire

Enjoy a Mr Darcy moment with a visit to the scene of one of the most famous romantic moments in TV history. Lyme Park in Cheshire is the backdrop to where Mr Darcy, played by Colin Firth, meets Elizabeth in the TV adaptation of Pride & Prejudice.

Picture the stars and discover this special place by taking a guided walk – The Only Way Is Pemberley – and immersing yourself in a travelling exhibition on loan from Jane Austen's House Museum on February 15 and 16.

Call 01663 762023 or visit www.nationaltrust.org.uk for details.

■ Castle Howard, York

This one has it all: magnificent views, dramatic landscape, ponds, woodland and fountains.

If you're feeling energetic, you can row across the lake, or if you prefer to relax, amble through the colour and fragrance of the walled garden. Castle Howard is well known for its annual displays of daffodils, rhododendrons, delphiniums and roses.

Visit www.castlehoward.co.uk for details.

■ Biddulph Grange Garden, Staffordshire

This amazing Victorian garden was created by James Bateman for his collection of plants from around the world.

Enjoy both a romantic stroll and a global journey admiring his finds from the ultimate romance of Italy to the mysterious pyramids of Egypt. On Valentine's evening, guests can take a picture-perfect romantic lantern walk in the pinetum, through cherry trees and past the lake.

Booking is essential, call 01782 517999 or visit www.nationaltrust.org.uk for details.

■ Royal Botanic Garden, Edinburgh

This jewel in the crown of Scottish gardens offers visitors peace and tranquillity amongst 72 acres of stunning scenery.

Founded in 1670, it's acknowledged to be one of the finest gardens in the world for viewing unusual and beautiful plants. If it's cold outside, take an eco-tour of the world in the magnificent glasshouses, featuring Britain's tallest Palm House.

Visit www.rbge.org.uk for details.

■ Erddig, Wrexham

For the ultimate romantic walk, visit this 18th century country house set in a stunning landscape park.

The tales of 'life below stairs' are captured beautifully at Erddig, with servants' portraits hanging on the walls to help visitors imagine Downton-style escapades.

One such story belonged to Lucy Hitchman and Ernest Jones, who worked for the Yorke family at Erddig just before the First World War. They fell in love and took strolls on their afternoons off in and around the park and, today, visitors can retrace their favourite walk, known simply as 'romantic walk'. It's an easy, one-mile walk – and don't miss the kissing gates!

■ Fountains Abbey, North Yorkshire

A memorable day out needs a memorable setting. The breathtaking folly at Fountains Abbey, North Yorkshire, combined with the Studley Royal Water Garden, is guaranteed to capture the imagination.

Meander through the beautiful landscaped Georgian water garden of Studley Royal, complete with Neo-classical statues, follies and stunning views. If you still want more, there are miles of more walks to make the most of your special day.

DALLAS BUYERS CLUB
certificate 15, 1h57m

NOMINATED for six Academy Awards including best picture, Dallas Buyers Club is a profoundly moving biopic of a hard-drinking Texan electrician Ron Woodroof who refused to accept that his HIV-positive diagnosis in the mid 1980s was a death sentence.

Instead he smuggled a cocktail of unapproved drugs into America in direct defiance of his physician, who believed clinical trials were the only way to combat the virus.

Woodroof established a club to sell medications to other HIV-positive patients but his actions drew the attention of both the police and the Food and Drug Administration which at that time took between eight and 12 years to approve a new drug.

But Woodroof didn't have time on his side - doctors expected him to be dead within a month - so he bent the rules to stay alive and his inspirational crusade became a beacon of hope.

Jean-Marc Vallée's well crafted picture opens at a rodeo ring where Woodroof (Matthew McConaughey) is engaged in unprotected sex with two women in the bull stall.

A few days later at work he has an accident at work and regains consciousness at Dallas Mercy Hospital where Dr Nathan Sevard (Denis O'Hare) and colleague Dr Eve Saks (Jennifer Garner) deliver the hammer blow - blood tests have confirmed he is HIV-positive and has about 30 days to live.

Very quickly he accepts the diagnosis and travels to Mexico to source non FDA-approved AZT from Dr Vass (Griffin Dunne). However, the medic warns Woodroof that AZT is lethal and instead prescribes other drugs and vitamins.

This cocktail keeps him alive and he goes into business with an HIV-positive transvestite called Rayon (Jared Leto) to peddle the same -pills to gay men living with the virus.

Dallas Buyers Club doesn't sugar-coat a bitter pill. Woodroof isn't portrayed as a flawless, morally robust hero but his friendship with Rayon opens his eyes to the lasting good he can achieve through his business.

McConaughey is mesmerising, shedding 40 pounds to portray the emaciated sandy-haired hustler who dared to live only when he had a death sentence hanging over his cowboy hat.

Leto is equally compelling, concealing his character's pain behind the armour of fake eyelashes, earrings and painted nails.

Screenwriters Craig Borten and Melisa Wallack exercise some artistic licence but it does not detract from the emotional wallop of the film or from the daring of Woodroof's enterprise.

JOSE Padilha directs this glossy remake of Paul Verhoeven's influential 1987 sci-fi thriller about a futuristic society that meddles with technology and pays a hefty price for its transgressions.

Detroit police officer Alex Murphy (Joel Kinnaman) has a beautiful wife Clara (Abbie Cornish) and a glittering future in the force, but during a routine call he is gravely injured and the scientists at conglomerate OmniCorp save his life by transforming Alex into a crimefighting cyborg.

The company hopes to introduce a RoboCop to every city in 2028 America and Alex's rebirth is the perfect opportunity to showcase their controversial technology to greedy investors. Unfortunately, OmniCorp's chief executive Raymond Sellars (Michael Keaton) and his money-hungry board do not count on the humanity that burns bright beneath Murphy's metallic shell.

certificate U 1h32m

MR Peabody (voiced by Ty Burrell) is a talking dog whose myriad achievements include a Nobel Prize, two Olympic medals and the invention of zumba.

He has captained of industry on speed-dial but Mr Peabody's greatest triumph is his adopted son, Sherman (Max Charles), who has nurtured a fascination with history by accompanying his father on time-travelling expeditions using the top-secret Wayback Machine.

On his first day at school, Sherman antagonises class swot Penny Peterson (Ariel Winter) and the youngsters get in a fight, which culminates in the lad biting his nemesis.

Dastardly child protective services officer Mrs Grunion (Allison Janney) threatens to take Sherman away from his father and insists on a home visit to gauge Mr Peabody's suitability as a carer.

The plucky pooch invites Penny and her parents Paul (Stephen Colbert) and Patty (Leslie Mann) to his plush New York home in the hope of patching up the children's differences in front of Mrs Grunion.

Instead, Sherman lets slip about the Wayback Machine to Penny and the classmates accidentally create ripples through time. So the enterprising pooch and troublesome tykes must eap back into the device to repair the temporal damage.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

ESTATE agents Savills sent me their prime regional market report last week. It's fascinating reading for anyone remotely interested in our housing market and full of encouraging news for those thinking of selling up in 2014.

Unless you've been holidaying on the moon for the past month or so you won't be surprised to hear that the report claims the market has seen the strongest quarterly price growth in over three-and-a-half years recently.

What was interesting for our particular corner of the UK was that for the first time the wider south of England saw higher quarterly growth than the markets closer to London. This, according to the report, is a clear sign that recovery is spreading beyond the commuter zone.

A few months ago I had lunch with a local agent who said that in his opinion more and more Londoners would move out this way as property prices grew increasingly unaffordable in the capital.

It's easy to see why. Commuting to the office from stations such as Harlow, Bishop's Stortford, Hertford and Cheshunt can take the same time as battling in from the depths of Clapham or Hammersmith for example.

Leaving aside leaves or snow on the line or more storm damage, a commute from a draughty platform on a winter morning can be a small price to pay for a larger property, a realistic mortgage and a garden to enjoy in the summer months.

Local properties which fall into the higher price brackets have historically appealed to families moving out of London. Bankers' bonuses used to see to that. Now it seems property across the board is falling within the sights of our London neighbours.

Local Property Comment

Alan Howick

The Tricks They Get Up To !

Unless you have been visiting another planet recently you may have noticed through the media, and certainly on Breakfast TV the pound is getting stronger and property prices appear to be turning into an upwards direction and this is definitely the case here in Harlow.

We are achieving amazing prices locally compared to say, this time last year as well as the volume of sales being agreed, which means, on the down side, not so many houses are being offered for sale to satisfy current demand.

And there is the purpose of my head line, The 'Tricks They Get Up To'! This is a polite observation of the daft antics some estate agents are prepared to lower themselves to try and gain an edge.

We discovered a story this week which makes a mockery out of competitiveness.

One night a neighbour witnessed and I quote two chaps in suits pulling up a for sale board and taking it away. When the house owner asked their agent the following day why did they move the board away the agent replied, we haven't, why?

Anyway, the bright eyed neighbour actually made a note of the car registration and this was reported to the police. Guess what, the registration plate was traced to another rival estate agent here in Harlow! For goodness sake, get a life!

Pick of the pick-ups

www.harlowstar.co.uk

THE Korando Sports brought a new level of refinement to the pick-up market when it was launched just over a year ago, blending the suspension, engine and cabin finesse of a passenger car with the silhouette, space and seating for five that's typical of a double cab and the rugged workmanlike ability of a commercial pick-up.

The new 2014 Korando Sports will appeal to those who need a working vehicle, the practicality of four-wheel drive, the towing capability to haul up to 2.7 tonnes yet also the appointments of a family car.

There are two models to choose from. The SX is extremely well appointed and comes equipped with 16-inch alloy wheels, tinted glass, air conditioning, leather covered steering wheel, remote central locking, Kenwood MP3 CD and RDS radio with a USB and auxiliary port and Bluetooth connectivity. It also receives speed sensitive power assisted steering.

The EX gets 18-inch alloy wheels and features the luxury touch of

SSANGYONG KORANDO SPORTS PICK-UP

PRICE: £17,995-£21,995 (including VAT)

leather upholstery with heated front seats, powered driver's seat, heated, electrically adjustable and power folding door mirrors and rear parking sensors, while 6-speed automatic transmission with cruise control is also available as an option.

Three new hard tops are now available as accessories, adding features such as a sliding front window for ventilation and access to the car's rear window, a heated rear window, hinged side windows - especially useful for ventilation when carrying dogs and other animals - and a hatch that locks as part of the car's central locking and opens without having to lower the tailgate.

Delivering both performance and economy - up to 37.7 mpg on the combined cycle - Korando Sports is powered by SsangYong's latest e-XDi diesel engine. This 2-litre Euro 5 engine provides maximum power of 155PS and peak torque of 360Nm delivered between 1,500rpm and 2,800rpm providing ample performance both on and off road, whatever the task.

Unlike other pick-ups where the word 'truck' belies their more dated mechanical origins by utilising leaf springs, the SsangYong Korando Sports features a live rear axle supported by sophisticated five-link suspension with coil springs to give a comfortable, car-like ride.

The fresh exterior design has been styled to reflect SsangYong's modern and efficient new look. From the front it communicates a dynamic yet sophisticated appearance, featuring a mesh grille, trapezoidal bumper and stylish black headlight bezels to provide a premium touch.

In profile, the sharp belt line runs to the rear bumper emphasising a sleek, sporty stance, while from the rear the wide glass area affords excellent rearward visibility.

Inside the spacious cabin there's a light and airy environment thanks to the large front, side and rear windows, while the careful blending of black and metallic finishes along with an LED illuminated instrument cluster has created a smart and refined interior. The rear passenger seat features a folding armrest and can be reclined by up to 29 degrees.

As with every SsangYong, practicality is at the core of the new pick-up's appeal. A large, flat rear deck provides a 2.04m<sup>2</sup> load area to take a Euro pallet, and comes complete with load deck liner and anchor points.

Constructed on a separate frame chassis - the mark of a serious off-roader - the new Korando Sports offers a very rigid structure to help protect occupants in the event of a collision. Accident avoidance and a sure footed performance off road are also enhanced by the Electronic Stability Programme, Active Roll-over Protection and Hill Start Assist.

As with all models in the SsangYong range, the new Korando Sports is covered by a five-year limitless mileage warranty. Designed to be totally transparent and give customers complete peace of mind, 'limitless' means just that: not a maximum mileage condition that some brands impose in their small print.

All the major mechanical components are covered including wheel bearings, suspension joints and bushes, steering joints, shock absorbers and even the audio system.

Wearable components such as clutch discs and brake friction materials which could have their life reduced by poor driving are covered for one year or 12,000 miles, and the battery and paintwork for three years.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Hawks boss in striker swoop

HARLOW Town FC boss Danny Chapman is poised to swoop for a striker from a Ryman premier division club.

Although the Hawks manager did not wish to name his target at this stage, he is in advanced talks with the director of football at the Ryman premier club and hopes to have the player signed up so he can be in the squad for Saturday's home match against Wroxham in Ryman division one north.

Chapman needs cover as Leon Antoine has a knee injury.

"We are coming to the business end of the season and we need to make sure we have the strength in depth," said Chapman.

Another boost for Harlow is the news that influential midfielder and player-coach Danny Brown has not sustained a cruciate ligament injury, so could be back in six weeks.

"We had the results of the scan and it's not as bad as we first thought. It's not as serious and there is no long term damage," said the Hawks boss. "This is a massive boost both for us and for Danny."

Meanwhile, Chapman will step up his pursuit of a new centre-half after releasing Darren Williams following a dispute.

The Hawks boss completed the signing of midfielder Daniel O'Donnell earlier this week, who has allegedly played for St Johnstone and Hibernian.

O'Donnell lives in Harlow and contacted the club as he wants to return to playing.

"He is not afraid to put a tackle in and is technically very good. He is not here because he wants the money - he wants to help the club get promoted," Chapman said.

Harlow's league match away to Burnham Ramblers was called off last Saturday due to a waterlogged pitch.

Chapman is targeting six points from the home games against Wroxham (on Saturday) and Heybridge (on Tuesday).

He added: "There are 19 league games left and 57 points to play for. The last few seasons the league champions have finished with 88 to 92 points. In that respect we have 37 to get from a possible 57 to play for."

The Hawks are now third in the 24-team division.

Mixed fortunes for Harlow LTC

HARLOW Lawn Tennis Club suffered a 10-6 loss to Stansted in the Essex Men's Small Clubs League division two.

Steve Dodd and Paul Pattison lost their first match in a very close encounter 5-7, 5-7 versus Jamie Alder and Richard Portway, a match which took nearly two hours.

The second Harlow pair, after initially failing to cope with the difficult conditions, drew their first match 4-6, 6-3 against Rik Lim and Matt Derry.

Peter Gregory and Fred Lloyd then comfortably won 6-2 6-1 versus Jamie Alder and Richard Portway.

However, Dodd and Pattison lost 0-6 2-6 against Lim and Derry.

Previously the Latton Bush Centre-based team won 10-6 against Henham.

Athletic club organises cross country meeting for junior kids

HARLOW Athletic Club is holding a cross country event for primary school children on February 15 on Latton Common.

The event is open to children from schools or athletic clubs.

There will be separate boys and girls races for school years 3&4 and 5&6.

The years 3&4 race will be 1000m and the years

5&6 race will be 1600m across Latton Common in Harlow.

This is the first time the club has held this event which is being done to build better links with local schools and neighbouring athletics clubs.

The club is hosting the event in conjunction with the British Legion, who will be providing refreshments (£1 of each entry fee is given to the British Legion as a donation).

The aim of the event is to encourage more kids into sport and the event is a great warm-up for the main Harlow Schools Cross Country Championships in March, which is being run by George Gardiner and the Harlow Schools Sports Partnership.

Mitchinson suffers third English semi heartbreak

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STEVE Mitchinson suffered a heartbreaking 21-20 defeat in the semi-final of the England National Bowls Champion of Champions Bowls - losing to the same opponent for the second time.

The Harlow bowls player and former English National Singles Champion, also lost by exactly the same scoreline when he was beaten in the same competition just three years earlier.

It was the third time in three years he had reached the last four of this prestigious competition, only to fail while trying to mount the last hurdle to the final.

Having qualified for the finals contest, held at Warners Leisure resort at Hayling Island, Hampshire consisting of the top 16 players in the country, Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club member Mitchinson (38) came through tough last 16 and quarter-final matches to reach the semi-final.

This competition was for all club champions from 2013 and Mitchinson had already won four matches in order to reach the last 16 of the competition.

Mitchinson, who is sponsored by Autoprotect, failed to make the final after a thrilling and close encounter with fellow England trialist Chris Daniels from

OUT OF LUCK: Harlow's Steve Mitchinson lost his third English Champion of Champions semi-final (s)

Bournemouth IBC.

Daniels had built up a lead early on as he moved 5-1 ahead, but Mitchinson started to hit form and was regularly drawing within inches again.

He pulled level at 5-5 and then went into a 15-8 lead and was now within touching distance of a first final.

But Daniels then mounted his own comeback as Mitchinson was forced to play weight on a tricky green and was missing shots as the pressure told.

Eventually the Bournemouth player pulled back to within one shot of Mitchinson at 20-19.

Daniels drew a side toucher, which the Harlow player countered by also drawing close for a second bowl.

The South Coast player then drew up again and moved the jack to be holding two and with a match lie.

Mitchinson was forced to play weight but missed twice leaving Daniels a 21-20 winner.

Earlier, Mitchinson had defeated Martin Heitzman from the Faise club in Sussex in the last 16.

On a very tricky and heavy green Heitzman built up a 13-7 lead, but the Harlow player staged a tremendous fightback to level the score at 20-11.

However, Heitzman drew a side toucher with his first bowl and was in a very strong position to get the single required to take the match.

But with his third bowl Mitchinson managed to trail the jack, leaving him holding but with his opponent still with one wood to play.

He played weight, looking to either pick Mitchinson's bowl out or play the jack into the ditch.

But he missed and Mitchinson snatched the victory.

In the quarter-final, Mitchinson defeated David Drew from the Carnmogga club in Cornwall.

Three years earlier Drew had beaten Mitchinson in the last 16 so the Harlow player was out for

Duo progress to nationals

BARRY O'Connor and Sue Duck, members of Harlow's Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club in Bush Fair, have reached the last 16 of the English National Mixed Pairs competition, which is to be held at Lincoln Indoor Bowls Club on February 21-23.

They defeated a number of pairs in the Essex Area stage before beating a pair from Gledbells (Middlesex) by 33-6 in a Home Counties stage.

Meanwhile, Teresa Shaw, Gill Mitchinson, Eddie Smith and Jimmy Oakes reached the English National Mixed Fours last 16 also at Lincoln Indoor Bowls Club on the same dates.

They beat a number of teams in their area before defeating a quartet from Cambridge Park Bowls Club (Surrey) to reach the final stages.

Mitchinson stormed into a 12-2 lead and eventually won this game 21-15.

However, he then met his match in the shape of Daniels.

John Tennant was 50th in 33.00 and Pasquale Pellecchia was 65th in 34.56, and were first and third veteran 60 finishers respectively.

Spirited display from Ladies

HARLOW Ladies seconds produced a battling performance but eventually went down 2-1 at third-placed Upminster IV in division four of the Essex Women's Hockey League.

Harlow had only nine players against Upminster's 13 as a lot of players had injuries.

Harlow had plenty of shots on goal, but could not find the net early on.

The visitors scored when good link-up play between Lucy Dearman and Sarah Alderson resulted in the latter firing in.

But Upminster fought back after the break and scored twice to take the points.

Harlow's young cricketers make Essex progress

IT might still be winter, but Harlow Cricket Club's young players have already been showing their talent.

With West Essex district and Essex trials and the HECC Indoor League under way, the youngsters from Marigolds have been demonstrating their skills.

Nathan Khelawon is in the Essex U-11 squad, while Alan Jones is in the U-13 squad.

Tommy Brewster had a trial for the U-10 squad.

Matilda Prince is in the Essex U-11 girls squad.

All seven nominees from the club have been accepted for the West Essex district squad, along with representatives at U-13 and U-15.

"The club is proud of every young person that had taken part in the trials, no matter whether they had been successful, for competing at this level was a tribute to the hard work of all those youngsters and their coaches," said club chairman and president Alan Howick.

Meanwhile, the Harlow U-13 team have won a competitive indoor league by beating a very sporting Stansted Hall & Elsenham side in their final game.

The team of Harry Burton, Max Baulcomb, Joe Jenkins, Thomas

Smith-Hughes, Tyler Dobson, Jack Ellis and Henry Wilson triumphed after amazingly winning 13 consecutive hard-fought games.

This was despite losing their first game of the season back in September.

"It was very much a team victory

with four bowlers and three batsmen all named in the league's top 10 performers for their ability. During the course of their run, the team held their nerve to win two matches with winning runs off the last ball of the game which shows how close the teams were and how exciting the games were to play in," said Howick.

Manager Alan Burton said: "They are a great group of boys, showing amazing tactical awareness for their age and most importantly, really enjoying their cricket and their successes with their team-mates."

He added: "Fielding is very much an under-rated part of the game, but during the course of the indoor season, it proved vital in several games when the boys made tremendous stops which meant the score remained within our reach."

Harlow's other U-13 side finished a very creditable third in the indoor league.

Captaincy can inspire Rehman to greatness

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TAKING on the captaincy appears to affect the form of cricketers more than any other sport – just look at England skipper Alastair Cook's form in the disastrous Ashes tour this winter.

But new Harlow captain Rehman Ahmed is confident his crucial runs with the bat will not dry up now he has been given the role of replacing Luke Heskett and keeping the Marigolds men in Shepherd Neame Essex League division one this year.

A series of outstanding performances from 24-year-old Rehman and experienced all-rounder Ahmed Khawaja in the tail end of last season proved the difference between survival and relegation in 2013, and the Harlow-born batsman is adamant the burden of captaincy will not impact on his ability to notch the top scores Harlow will need from him if they are to flourish this term.

Rehman said: "I have always scored runs. I lead from the front. I set an example for the rest of the boys. I feel as if I can score more runs."

Having lost the captaincy, some might fear the relationship between Heskett and Rehman could be awkward, but the new skipper stressed a strong relationship exists there, as the pair have played cricket together for many years.

"We have always kept it civil. We have always maintained our friendship," he said.

"I have known him since we were in the sixth form at the Boys High [Bishop's Stortford High School]."

The loss of former Essex bowler Andy McGarry is a blow, and Rehman agrees that Harlow are slightly weak in the bowling department, which is why the team will be working on improving their fielding in order to take more wickets in 2014.

"The bowling is not as strong as other teams in the league. There is a lot of catching to do. All the boys will have to perform."

Meanwhile, the Shepherd Neame Essex League has introduced some rule changes for next season.

There will be five 50-over games at the start of the season, then nine time-restricted matches, before the year ends with four more 50-over games.

"We will also be starting games a little earlier," explained Rehman.

League chiefs have also decided to do away with the orange balls next season. "Players were struggling to pick up the orange balls," Rehman explained. Conor Ramsay is colour blind so he really struggled to pick up the ball."

● HARLOW Cricket Club will hold a special President's Day to commemorate its 240th anniversary.

This will take place on June 25.

Abdul was a magician

HARLOW have completed the signing of Imran Qadir, but few cricket fans will not know the name of his father, Pakistan's leg-spin legend Abdul Qadir, writes DAVID RIMMER.

With 236 Test wickets, Abdul is fifth on the all-time list of great Pakistan bowlers.

Leg-spin, with its wrist contortion, is a difficult art to master but Abdul was a magician.

He teased and taunted leaden-footed England batsmen in Test series in the 1980s.

Mike Gatting and David Gower had some success but English batsmen largely found it difficult to read Qadir's wiles, although England somehow beat Pakistan 2-1 in 1982.

Would the ball turn away from them, or would it hurry on straight, or would it turn back into their pads?

Tentative batsmen would enter the arena and depart shame-faced.

Through all this, Qadir played the poker player, apart from some histrionic appealing. He was the world's leading leg spinner of the 1980's before the all-conquering Shane Warne made himself the leader of the wrist spin pantheon.

This also includes the distinguished Aussies Bill O'Reilly and Richie Benaud.

Hopefully Imran Qadir can impose his own magic on Harlow this summer.

A Dan for a Dan!

HAWKS manager Danny Chapman has signed central midfielder Daniel O'Donnell.

The 24-year-old played in his native Scotland for St Johnstone before injuring his back.

He was out of the game for two years before returning with Bishop Auckland.

Chapman was after a midfielder after losing player-coach Danny Brown to a ligament injury. He could be out for six weeks.

Meanwhile, Ben Hart has left the club due to work commitments, but the club still holds his registration.

Hart can play at right-back or right-wing. He joined from Hoddesdon Town last season.

"We thank Ben for his service to the club and wish him every success in the future," said club secretary Ray Dyer.

Harlow's midweek league game at Waltham Abbey was called off once again due to a wet pitch. This has now been rearranged for Tuesday March 25.

New skipper's a Reh of light at Marigolds

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

REVOLUTION is in the air as new Harlow Cricket Club captain Rehman Ahmed looks to turn around the fortunes of the first team.

Rehman (24) has replaced Luke Heskett as skipper of the first team at the Old Harlow-based club which celebrates its 240th anniversary this year.

The side only narrowly avoided relegation from Shepherd Neame Essex League division one last season.

The signing of former Pakistan U-19 batsman Imran Qadir is a huge coup for Rehman.

Qadir is the son of legendary Pakistan leg spinner Abdul Qadir.

Abdul is in fifth place in the all-time list of Test wicket takers for Pakistan, just behind accomplished names such as Wasim Akram, Waqar Younis and Imran Khan.

He took 236 wickets in 67 Tests between 1977 and 1990.

His son Imran will be travelling down from his Birmingham home for Harlow matches.

Rehman, pictured, has promoted Harlow second team captain Jon Perry (23), and he will serve as his vice-captain this year, joining some of the talented second team players who were promoted to Second XI division one last year in the new-look first team.

These include young wicket-keeper batsman Nino Calvino and all-rounder Anthony Webb.

The only departure has seen former Essex bowler Andy McGarry join neighbours Sawbridgeworth. Perry is someone who can help transform the first team. "He turned the two into a very successful unit," Rehman said.

The addition of Qadir, combined with the news that key batsman and left arm spinner Ahmed Khawaja will remain at Marigolds, is great news for former Mark Hall School student Rehman, born and brought up in the town. He has been with Harlow Cricket Club since he was eight-years-old.

Khawaja was banned from bowling by the Essex League last season because of a suspect action, but the ECB have given him the OK to bowl next season.

"He is pivotal. He has been good for the last two or three seasons," said Rehman.

Rehman believes Tom Ryder, a left-arm spinner, will also have a key role. But he will not be available for every game.

The new skipper says young players such as bowler Luke Monger will thrive in the new set-up.

Monger has spent the winter playing just below Grade A cricket in Perth, Western Australia.

"As an opening bowler he has been absolutely fantastic," beamed Rehman. "He is also handy with the bat."

Eighteen-year-old right-arm off spinner Lloyd Sykes is also a player who is giving Rehman plenty of reasons for optimism.

Conor Ramsay will miss some games while he studies for a degree at Warwickshire University.

Moving up to captain the seconds in place of Perry is Danny Stone, an experienced left-arm seamer who has taken 800 wickets for the club over the last 20 years.

Harlow swoop to sign son of Pakistan legend

IMRAN Qadir is set to make a big impact at Harlow Cricket Club but his name will certainly be well known among cricket aficionados.

Imran's father, world famous leg spinner Abdul Qadir, is fifth in the all-time Test wicket-taking list for Pakistan.

He played in 67 Tests and took 236 wickets.

Imran, 31, was good enough to have played for the Pakistan U-19 side, but did not make the step up to the senior team.

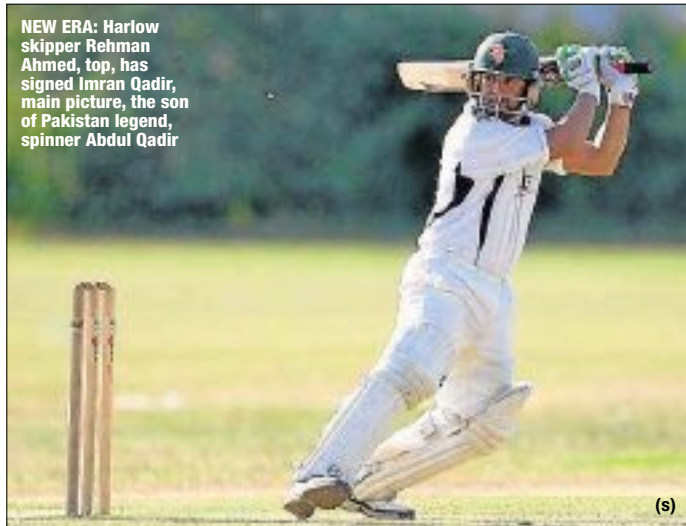

He emigrated to England, and lives in Birmingham.

Harlow skipper Rehman Ahmed is delighted that Imran has agreed to join the Shepherd Neame Essex League club.

Imran is friends with influential Marigolds all-rounder Ahmed Khawaja, and it is through this association that Harlow have been able to pull off this coup.

Rehman said: "He coaches on a Friday and has been playing cricket on a Sunday for Ilford. He's a friend of Khawaja. They have both played together on Sundays.

NEW ERA: Harlow skipper Rehman Ahmed, top, has signed Imran Qadir, main picture, the son of Pakistan legend, spinner Abdul Qadir

"He hit 100 in a game when we played against [Ilford]. Hopefully he will solidify the middle along with me."

He added: "He will be doing the match warm-up and he can take the younger players and tell them if they play a wrong shot.

"The problem we have had is [foreign] players not speaking good English, but he speaks very good English."

Imran has been playing cricket in division two of the Birmingham League with Fordhouses CC.

This might not seem too high a level but the Birmingham League is one of the strongest in the country.

Imran played for the Wolverhampton-based club in 2012.

Unlike his father, Imran is a batsman and scored more than 500 runs at an average of more than 30.

A Fordhouses CC spokesman said Harlow have pulled off a coup by signing Imran. "He scored the most runs for us in that year. He could attack or defend and would bat to suit the game," he said.

Imran will bring quality with the bat and although he hardly bowled for Fordhouses, he could well do so for Harlow.
